

SCHOLARSHIP OPPORTUNITY IN YOKOHAMA NATIONAL UNIVERSITY, JAPAN

2 YEARS MASTERS PROGRAM IN THE STRUCTURE LABORATORY OF THE DEPARTMENT OF OCEAN AND SPACE ENGINEERING,

The possible supervisors and their field of study are as follows.

(a) Yasumi Kawamura, Professor and Head of the Department

FEM (Finite element method), Structural Reliability, Structural Mechanics,
Computer Aided Engineering (CAE)

(b) Taishi Wada, Associate Professor

Intelligent materials and systems, Shape memory alloys, Oscillating fins, Physical metallurgy, Crystallography

The scholarship (Monbukagakusho) is about 150,000 yen (approximately $1,800)/month.
The duration of the graduate school may be 2 years for master course. A flight ticket to Tokyo will also be provided.

The interested students of Department of Naval Architecture and Marine Engineering with structure-hydrodynamics background, strong affinity to programming and having minimum CGPA 3.5 are encouraged to contact with CV & academic records (grade sheets) to the Head of the department by 13/12/11. The students who will graduate by September 2012 are also welcome to apply.